

Lines Can Make Shapes

By Clark Ness

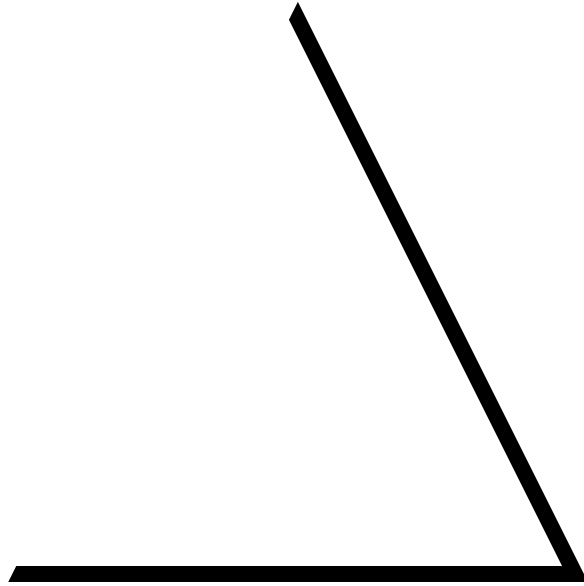

Visit www.clarkness.com and www.readinghawk.com
for more free ebooks and stories.

Reading Level: Flesch-Kincaid Grade Level 2.4

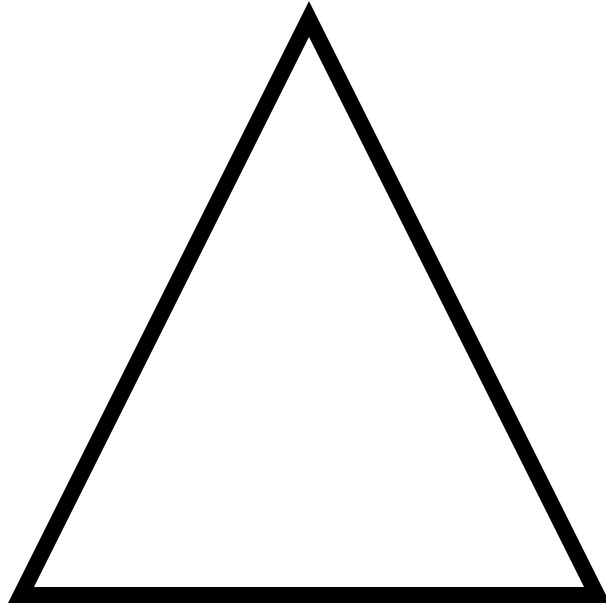

Nonfiction

There was a line.

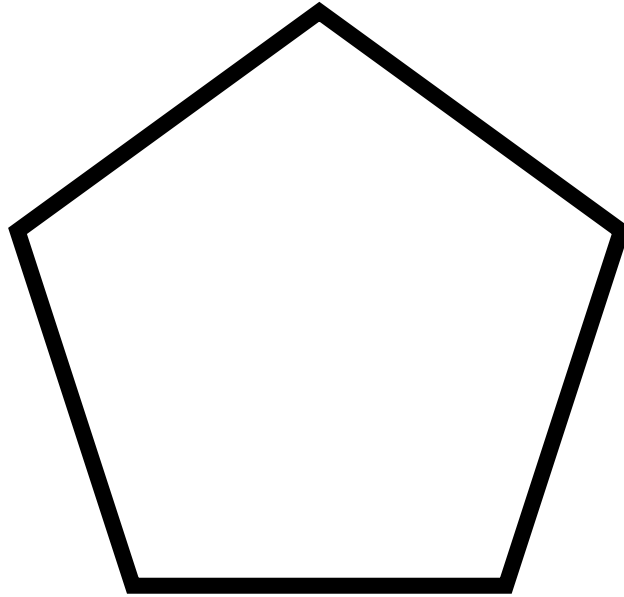

There were two lines. They came together and made an angle.

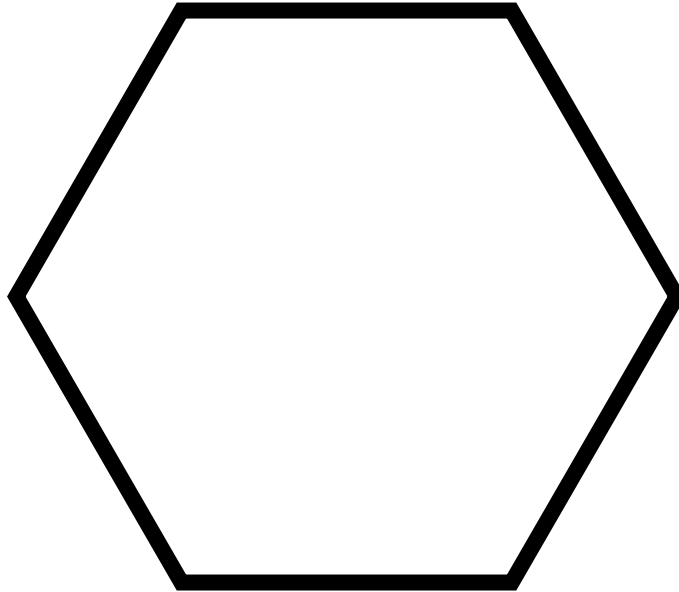

There were three lines. They came together and made a triangle.

There were four lines. They came together and made
a rectangle.

There were five lines. They came together and made
a pentagon.

There were six lines. They came together and made
a hexagon.

There were seven lines. They came together and made a heptagon.

There were eight
lines. They came together and made
an octagon.

More free ebooks and stories are available at www.clarkness.com and www.readinghawk.com.
Copyright © 2013 by Clark Ness. Permission is granted for printing, photocopying, emailing, recording, storing in a retrieval system, and transmitting this story in any form, or by any means, mechanical and/or electronic. Sale of this story and/or uploading to a commercial bookstore or commercial website is strictly forbidden without prior written permission.